The book is great and fantastic. It is written in straightforward words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You won't really feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for regarding should you question me).

Excerpt: .cylinder, or the functions considered by Sturm in connection with the conduction of heat, by Thiele and Charlier in reference to probability, and by Hermite.f The two-dimensional functions seem to be new, but they are shown to be the equivalent in polar co-ordinates of the functions considered by Hermite $(d/dx)(d/cy) e^{-l^2/3}$ and the relations connecting the two types of function are obtained. It is shown in the paper that any function of x and ϕ can be expanded in the form $22a \sin(n\phi) \cos 7116$, where $(-1)^n \tan m = \frac{f(\phi)}{f(0)} \frac{d\phi}{dx}$, J_0 and a proof of the convergence and validity of the expansion is given in the case where ϕ is independent of ϕ , with an indication of the extension to the general case. Hence a series is obtained giving a solution of the equation Liouville, I and II. + Comptes Rendus, vol. 58. $V_2 w = \frac{du}{dt}$, which reduces for $t = t_0$ to a function given all over the plane, viz.: $-\frac{m}{\phi} \frac{d\phi}{dx} + \frac{m}{4\phi} \cos m\phi$, the coefficient a , h m being obtained as above. This series is shown, by direct expansion, to be equivalent to Laplace's definite integral solution of the cooling of an infinite plate, viz., Various other expansions are given analogous to Neumann's expansions of $J_n(r^2 + p - 2rp \cos \theta)$ in a series of Bessel functions. The last part of the paper considers the equivalent functions in Cartesian co-ordinates, in terms of which Hermite has...
